

Bucks Land Value Jumps $13 Million

Bucks County real estate assessments for 1957 have jumped more than $13,000,000 over this year's, the county commissioners announced yesterday.

In announcing that the board of assessment has completed its work on the 1957 roles, the commissioners said that new sources of revenue will bring an additional $100,000 into the county next year, under a county tax of seven mills and an institutional tax of one mill.

Commissioner John T. Welsh explained the board is not considering a tax increase for next year, even though the county plans to purchase voting machines approved in a referendum Nov. 6.

The county has no bonded indebtedness at present, and the new sources of revenue means the county could borrow as much as $6,000,000, if it had to, according to Welsh.

He said the commissioners would be "well within the law" in buying the voting machines all at one time, requiring a bond issue of $400,000. However, he said, the commissioners have not yet decided whether to buy the machines in one lot or to buy them over an extended period.

Over 100,000 Properties

There are 100,151 properties on the 1957 assessment rolls, an increase of 8,224 over this year. The added properties are chiefly new homes. The assessment on them is $229,949,070 as compared to $216,189,510 for 1956, an increase of $13,759,560.

The occupation assessment is $30,232,800 for 1957, compared to $28,775,800 for 1956, an increase of $1,457,000. The number of taxable persons has increased from 138,264 to 145,613, an addition of 6,749 persons over 1956.

Personal property subject to taxation has increased to $65,000,000, and even non-taxable property, including churches and ships, has increased nearly $2,000,000 over 1956. Non-taxable property has increased to $35,164,900, compared to $33,262,440 for this year.

The board of assessment heard almost 200 appeals in September, including those on Tullytown and Falls township businesses and industries.

The Weather

Mostly sunny and milder today with high temperature 60 to 65. Fair and not so cold tonight with lowest 47 to 52. Tomorrow increasing cloudiness warm and windy with showers in the afternoon.

KE BACKS UN IN VOLUNTEER THREAT; EGYPT ASKS SOVIET TO SEND TROOPS

Morrisville Puts Merger Up To People

Dr. Theodore Hansen, president of the Morrisville School Board said today the school board has no intentions of "jumping into a proposal from the Pennsbury School District to include Morrisville schools in the jointure."

The school board will get out a questionnaire to the people of Morrisville asking them what they want, he said.

13-State Call Issued For 2 Missing Boys

Boys Were Accused Of Stealing Car From Neshaminy High Mate

A 13-state alarm has been sent out for two Neshaminy High School students who left home last night after being arrested on charges of stealing a fellow student's car yesterday morning.

Good Evening!

Peace hard to come by.

It appeared well buttoned up in the Middle East, but today missings grow.

We hope the U. N. with the help of the big powers make this police force stick. If it doesn't watch out for another blowup.

Still, everybody's still talking and that's always a hopeful sign.

Most hopeful sign we're seeing today is the calendar which says a week from tomorrow everybody stuffs himself with turkey.

Year fading swiftly. Thanksgiving, then Christmas, then cheers for '57.

And hey, these sleek, jet-styled new automobiles!

The car manufacturers have pulled every trick out of the bag but the one that shows us how we can afford to buy what they've just made.

Speaking of cars, they don't stay new very long once you begin bouncing along some of these awful Lower Bucks county roads.

Do we still have a state highway department? Do township commissioners and supervisors ever do anything but just hold these long nocturnal jam sessions? Roadwise, the people are taking a shellacking.

Husband, just before a party: "I find your new evening gown rather confusing." Wife: "How so?" Husband: "Well, are you inside trying to get out, or outside trying to get in?"

Watch your driving.

Call For Help Is Received In Moscow

Report Is Considered Official As News Gets Past Censorship

LONDON —UP— The Egyptian government has asked Russia to dispatch "volunteer" forces to Egypt immediately, a Moscow dispatch reported today.

It was a grave, new development in the Mideast crisis and took on added significance because the brief Moscow dispatch cleared the strict Moscow censorship. The dispatch was attributed to Arab sources in Moscow.

The Middle East was the subject of anxious conferences in London, Paris, Washington and the United Nations.

In Washington, President Eisenhower pledged continued U.S. support of the United Nations and said the United States would continue, through the U.N., to oppose the introduction of any new forces in the Middle East.

He urged caution in all public statements.

Pressure On U.N.

For the hard-pressed United Nations it could mean an immediate moment of decision. A United Nations police force pledged to restore peace to the Middle East was building up slowly today in the Naples, Italy, staging area but it could not move pending final agreement among the powers involved.

Meanwhile, French, British and Israeli troops faced Egyptians in the Port Said area of the Suez Canal Zone and in the Sinai Desert within rifle shot of each other under an uneasy cease-fire.

The Arab sources in Moscow said the Egyptian request for volunteers had been made through the Egyptian embassy. Such a move removed it from the category of a general broadcast appeal for volunteers to aid Egypt and made it a formal action between governments. It was under the guise of a formal request from the puppet government in Hungary that Russian troops moved in to crush the revolt there.

If such a formal request has been made, it is in line with previous threats by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin to send battle-tested Soviet airmen, tank experts and officers to the Mideast unless Israeli, French and British forces withdrawn from Egypt.

Driver Cited For Violation

Paul Wasalowsky, 43, of 2235 Bridge street, Philadelphia, was cited by Bensalem police Monday for failing to stop at a stop sign and crashing with Norman Furness, 39, of 1456 Bensalem avenue.

The accident occurred at Street road and Knights road in Bensalem township Sunday.

Furness and his young son, Robert, suffered cuts and were released after treatment at Lower Bucks hospital. Wasalowsky was unhurt.

Police reported damage to Furness' new 1957 Ford was total. Damage to Wasalowsky's car was estimated at $300.

Township Increases Rec Budget By Half

Bristol Township will spend roughly 50 per cent more on recreation in 1957 than it did this year according to a preliminary budget drawn by the Recreation Board last night.

Louis R. Hahn, board chairman, said next year's budget will run approximately $52,848 compared to $35,442 for 1956.

The increase is due to the addition of several new recreation sites and tot lots, Hahn said. The budget also calls for the purchase of new equipment and the improvement of temporary facilities.

The canteen program will also be expanded next year under plans discussed last night. The canteen program was discontinued during the summer this year. In 1957 the evening dance programs will be carried 48 weeks.

Less Than Average

Hahn said the budget will be discussed at a public meeting Nov. 26 before it comes up for adoption in December.

Actually even under the proposed budget the township is spending considerably less for recreation than the national average, Hahn said.

Of the $52,000 budget about $30,000 will be in salaries for supervisory personnel. About 75 per cent of this will be reimbursed by the state. "The reimbursement would amount to (Continued On Page 3 Col. 7)

Morrisville Probes Sewer Industrial Use

Appoints Committee To See What Firms Can Hook Into System

Morrisville Borough Council last night delegated its Sanitation committee to investigate the possibilities of industrial and commercial firms in the borough hooking into the sewer system within 90 days.

The council will hear a Sanitation committee report on the matter at a special meeting Nov. 8.

In other action, council discussed the possibilities of annexing the six-acre English tract of land bordering the borough's West Trenton avenue.

Neal Nolan told fellow councilmen that he had been told by Falls Township Solicitor Willard S. Curtin that the issue would be fought in court by the Township. The annexation ordinance was read, in face of the impending battle, and it will go under council vote at a meeting Dec. 2.

Sidewalk Repair

A public hearing will be held on a petition asking that an area in the fourth ward be rezoned from Residential "B" to "C". The petition was signed by 40 residents of the affected area. The hearing is set for Nov. 6.

A sidewalk repair ordinance was passed permitting property owners to repair sidewalks damaged by trees with a "coal-patch." The soft-coal patch is cheaper than concrete, officials said.

Council voted to buy 300 water meters at a cost of $9,505. Price of the meters is expected to rise in January, Councilman Thomas Pursell told the board, and that by buying the meters now the (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

Ralph Bond, of W. T. Grant's in the Levittown Shopping Center, was elected president of the Levittown Businessmen's Association at its meeting last night.

Other officers elected at the third annual dinner and general membership meeting held at Pennsbury Inn, Morrisville, were Mort Miller, of Pomeroy's, vice president; Jules Sussman, of Lobel's, secretary; and Robert Rockhill, of the Philadelphia National Bank, treasurer.

Elected to the Board of Directors were: Victor Fisher of Sears; Earl Owens, of J. C. Penney; and Herman Sternberg, of Mally's. All officers serve a one-year term.

Falls Delays Action On Rt. 1 Water Lines

The Township of Falls Authority last night delayed action on a request to extend water mains from the end of Fairless Hills to U. S. Route 1 for fire protection.

The request was made by Robert Erwin, Falls Township building inspector, and a resident of Oxford Valley. He stated that the development of 25 houses had "absolutely no fire protection at all."

The Authority's consultant engineer, Howard LaVan, of Harrisburg, estimated that the cost of laying the main from Fairless Hills to Route 1 would be approximately $10 per foot for a distance of 130 feet or a total of $1,300.

Since the State Highways Department is going to widen and reconstruct Oxford Valley road in the near future, it was suggested that the water mains could be laid at the same time. Bids were opened last Friday in Harrisburg for the reconstruction job, and the contract will be awarded shortly.

An alternate plan suggested by LaVan would involve only 450 feet of main, but is dependent on whether the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company requests connection with the authority's water and sewer mains.

LaVan explained that if such (Continued on Page 3, Col. 8)

No Solo U. S. Action Slated At This Time

WASHINGTON —UP— President Eisenhower said today the United States would continue to oppose, through the United Nations, the introduction of any new forces in the Middle East.

Mr. Eisenhower made the statement at a news conference at which he took a cautious attitude toward reports of possible movement of Soviet "volunteers" into the strife-torn Middle East.

The President also vehemently denounced the use of Russian force in Poland and Hungary as negating all concepts of justice in the world.

If Soviet and Red Chinese volunteers go into Egypt as threatened, the President said the United States would not make any unilateral determination of the action. The United States would continue to support the United Nations in opposing the introduction of any new force, he said.

He said this covers munitions as well as troops.

In extensive questioning about the prospect of Chinese and Russian volunteers going into the Middle East, the President called for caution in all public statements lest delicate U.N. negotiations be upset in any way.

He said he did not intend to say at this point, that the United States would make a unilateral determination of what constituted offense in the Middle East, but he pledged as he has several times before, full United States support for U.N. actions in the matter.

Asked what form United States opposition to the introduction of any armed forces into the flaming Middle East might take beyond subscribing to the resolutions of the U. N., Mr. Eisenhower said slowly and reflectively that this would depend on what the U.N. did in the matter.

Other highlights of Mr. Eisenhower's first news conference since Oct. 11:

1. He said that as a result of the Democrats again winning the House and Senate in last Tuesday's election, there has to be some change brought about in the public conception of what the Republican Party represents.

2. He said he intends to work during the next four years industriously and incessantly to sell his concept of modern Republicanism.

3. Although the voters decided to continue a split government, Mr. Eisenhower regarded his own reelection as a mandate for his basic policies. To think otherwise, he said, would be to arrogate to himself unthinkable personal magnetism.

3. He agreed emphatically that steps must be taken to check the rise in the cost of living. He said he hopes business, labor and all elements of the American economy will cooperate with the gov-

Milder Weather Seen For Today

Winter blasts may be delayed a little, the Weather Bureau at Trenton indicated today.

The forecast for today was for fair and milder weather with the temperatures reaching into the 60's. This morning's low was 37 at 6 a.m.

Increasing cloudiness, warm and windy weather, with showers likely for the afternoon was the forecast for tomorrow.

Ike Deplores Soviet Force In Hungary

Denies U.S. Ever Advocated Open Rebellion On Reds

WASHINGTON —UP— President Eisenhower today denounced Russia's use of force in Hungary as contrary to all concepts of right and justice in the world.

Mr. Eisenhower told a news conference that the hearts of the American people have gone out to Hungary in its hour of trouble.

Nothing has so disturbed the American people, he said, as the events in Hungary where Russian troops have bloodily repressed a freedom revolt.

The President said the United States has never advocated open rebellion of a population against a force which was bound to prevail. This would only bring about disaster to our friends, he said.

But he said the United States will keep up its campaign of trying to keep hopes of freedom alive in satellite countries. Further, he said, it will never make what he called the terrible mistake of accepting the enslavement of Eastern European nations as a permanent feature.

Mr. Eisenhower pictured the Hungarian events as a warning to every small nation that they must be very, very careful about (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

Dr. Salk Predicts Polio Wiped Out By Next Year

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — UP — Dr. Jonas E. Salk said yesterday that polio would be practically wiped out by next year if everyone, including those in their 50's, received three injections of Salk vaccine before next summer.

Addressing the 84th annual meeting of the American Public Health Association, he recommended the polio vaccine be included among routine inoculations for diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

Tullytown Fire Call Change Set Nov. 21

The changed telephone number to report fires in Tullytown will not take place until Nov. 21, John Servis, second assistant chief of the Tullytown Fire Co., announced today for the company.

Until then, he said, Tullytown fires should be reported by calling Windsor 6-4900, the Bristol township fire and police dispatcher.

The change cannot be made immediately because new connections must be made, with calls to be received by a dispatcher at the Levittown water works, he said. At the regular meeting of Tullytown Borough Council Monday, Councilman Michael Piroli, announced the change, which he said was requested by the firemen because calls to the township dispatcher had been referred to the wrong companies.

Gas Line Dispute Ends

The Philadelphia Electric Company has agreed to assume the cost of moving gas lines at Cedar avenue, Croydon, to permit completion of a storm sewer pipe.

Thomas F. Coman, Bristol Township secretary, said Henry S. Davis, division manager in the Jenkintown office of the electric company, in a telephone conversation with Gilbert J. Kraus, township solicitor, yesterday afternoon, agreed to have the lines moved.

They, and a 14-year-old Feasterville boy, are accused of taking a car owned by George Foerst, of 209 Ford avenue, Hulmeville, from the school parking lot. Foerst was in class at the time.

Chief Howard C. Shook, of Middletown Township police, reported that Potts admitted he and the other two cut classes at 9:15 a.m. and went "for a ride" in Foerst's car, a 1950 convertible. Shook said Potts admitted driving the car.

Chief Stewart Ill At Home

Bristol Township Police John R. Stewart has been home sick for nearly a week with an intestinal virus and high fever.

Chief Stewart will probably be out for another day or two according to Harold Lefcourt, chairman of the Safety Committee. Lefcourt said the chief has been keeping in touch with events at police headquarters by telephone everyday. Most of the routine duties have been taken over by the police sergeants in charge of the various squads, Lefcourt added.

Real Test For U.N.

The Chief Executive's meeting with 58 reporters in the crowded conference room of the executive office building was devoted almost exclusively to the tense situation abroad and the aftermath of last week's election.

Before the question period started, Mr. Eisenhower spoke of the situation in Hungary and the Middle East. He said that, really, for the first time in history international machinery to settle disputes at the conference table instead of the battlefield is receiving a truly thorough test.

While the U.N. is attempting to calm down the crises abroad, he said, is no time for a summit meeting on the Middle East and Hungary.

He said he believes firmly that while the U.N. is at work with some hope of reaching a peaceful solution of the differences in Hungary and the Middle East, it would be a mistake to open up summit meetings.

The President, rarely smiling during his more than 30 minutes with reporters, said his position did not foreclose such meetings in the future. He was merely against the idea for the present.

As to Big Three meetings with the British and French, the President said this had been discussed without setting a time or place.

Must Maintain Friendships

In this connection, he added that American relations with Western Europe must remain strong. He expressed determination that once the Middle East crisis is out of the way, U.S. friendships with Britain and France will be stronger than ever.

Mr. Eisenhower was asked the simple question: "What are the chances for peace?"

The President thought for a moment, then told the inquiring reporter he did not believe there could be speculation on this point at this time. Normally when asked such a question, Mr. Eisenhower expresses a firm conviction that difficulties can be surmounted.

Today, however, he said the chance for peace is related to the depth of our faith and the earnestness of our efforts.

Ike Deplores

being too closely related to the Soviet Union.

He indicated this warning applied to Egypt in particular.

Although he strongly condemned the bloodbath in which Russia drowned Hungary's bid for freedom, Mr. Eisenhower made clear that there is no prospect of direct U.S. intervention.

He cautioned against any rash actions at a time when American policy, through the United Nations, is trying to quiet the international scene.

Eisenhower said the United States is doing everything possible to help Hungary. It was at this point, however, that he strongly stressed that the United States has never urged armed revolt in the satellite countries.

He spoke of the Soviet action in Hungary as being in violation of the United Nations charter. But in reply to a question about what the United States or other free nations might do about it, Mr. Eisenhower said it was a matter for the considered judgement of the nations of the world.

3 Women Fined In Disturbance

Three Levittown women who Bristol borough police said created a disturbance outside a Bath street home and broke windows early this morning were fined $10 each by Justice of the Peace Eugene Spadacino for disorderly conduct.

They were identified as Josephine Chiodo, Betty McCloskey and Vera Wilcha, all 36 and with the same address, 43 Mill drive, Mill Creek Falls.

Dominick Rotundo, 509 Bath street, called police at 1:20 a.m. and said the trio were making noise and broke several windows.

Sgt. Gaspar Favoroso answered the call with Patrolmen Henry Spinelli and Fidel Esposito. The officers said they found the women, loud and boisterous, at the rear of the house, arguing among each other.

Fairless Hills Democrat Pushes For Ike

John R. Armagost, 251 N. Olds boulevard, Fairless Hills, pays off an election bet by pushing a peanut down the street, cheered on by Mrs. Gladys Dukes, 243 N. Olds boulevard, who won her bet that President Eisenhower would be re-elected. Also in the cheering section are (from left) Mr. Armagost's sons, Art, 3, and John, Jr., 11, and seven-year-old Jimmy Guckes, 255 N. Olds boulevard. Mr. Armagost's wife, Anna Margaret, equipped him for the feat by preparing red knee pads and a collar with the peanut attached. The latter device was disqualified, but the loser was allowed to use lung power to propel the peanut, to compete with a strong reverse wind. The tall, husky Democrat, a cooling bed operator in the weld mill of the National Tube Division, Fairless Works, cheerfully carried out the election stunt. At the end of the ordeal he took time out from rubbing his knees to comment philosophically: "This shows why it's great to be an American," he said, "when at the same time in Hungary the people whose politics lost out are being massacred." In yesterday's feat Mr. Armagost carried out one of four obligations to Mrs. Duke, whose husband, George, is Republican committeeman. He must settle a cash bet by paying 50 cents (she gave two-to-one odds on this), cook her a spaghetti dinner and cut the Duke's lawn next summer.

Hearing Set Tomorrow On Shooting Of 2

William R. Smith, charged with the murder of his wife, Ethel, on Sept. 9 in her Bristol apartment, will go before the Bucks County Grand Jury tomorrow.

The grand jury will decide whether Smith should be tried for his wife's murder in county criminal court, and will also rule on an indictment of assault with intent to kill in the shooting of his wife's friend, Mrs. Helen F. Songer, who entered the apartment with Mrs. Smith.

Bridge Commission Case

District Attorney Donald W. Van Artsdalen said the grand jury will also consider indictments against former officials of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission on Thursday.

The commission officials are charged with misdemeanor in office, conspiracy and other offenses.

The grand jury yesterday morning returned true bills of indictment against Edward J. Kelly, 25 Churchville road, Feasterville, for assault and battery, and Weldon Audette, 27, of Trenton, for statutory rape of a 15-year-old Yardley girl.

The two will be tried in criminal court during the week of Nov. 26.

Held For Court

Held for court in the afternoon session by the grand jury were: Samuel Giancola, drunken driving; Erich Krauss, driving with license suspended; Thomas Willoughby, assault and battery; and Thomas J. Still, assault and battery.

Also, John F. Fowler, fraudulent conversion; Lorenz Davis, non-support; and William W. Moore, assault and battery with intent to ravish.

The board voted to retain Henry Morgan as recreation director and to hire a full time assistant at $2000 a year.

The members also requested Elbert J. Kohli, a member of the Bristol Township Board of Commissioners, to advise that group that it still owes about $7000 for its share of the recreation program for the first six months.

The township school board contribute equally to the recreation budget.

Hahn reported that money from an $8000 ground improvement fund will be used to finance a study of Langenfelder lake. The study would determine whether there is enough water flow in the lake to keep it pure during a swimming program. If the study is favorable the program would be developed by next summer, Hahn said.

School Merger

the next meeting, Dr. Hansen said, and "we are not prepared to talk about it. The news that the jointure was being proposed came as a surprise to all of us on the board," the president said. "All information on the subject seems to have come from Pennsbury Regional Superintendent Medill Bair," he added.

"For the present," Dr. Hansen said, "the board will continue to operate normally and wait for the consolidation plan to come before the board through regular channels. At that time," he said, "we will decide our next move."
